PICKLES OUTLINES TWO PLANS FOR MUNICIPALITY

Stresses Value of Sound Borrowing to Finance Initial Programs

Speaking before a capacity house at the Brentwood Women's Institute Hall, Tuesday night, candidate for the reeveship of Central Saanich Sydney Pickles, proposed two alternate plans for the consideration of the ratepayers and incoming council.

Mr. Pickles stressed the fact that these plans were not "to be pushed down the throats of the council," should he be elected, but were merely suggestions which would give the ratepayers and the council an idea of the problems that faced them.

Facts and figures presented by Candidate Pickles had been based on information gathered from experts in municipal affairs and checked with the help of Ian Ross, chartered accountant.

First Plan

The first plan proposed would call for no borrowing for the purpose of meeting capital expenditures in the matter of providing adequate fire protection for Central Saanich, Mr. Pickles explained.

"If arrangements could be negotiated with Saanich Municipality to provide fire protection throughout the new municipality," Mr. Pickles pointed out, "for an annual charge of a reasonable nature, the nit might be better business to use fire protection service from Saanich rather than organize a volunteer fire brigade."

Difficulty of this proposal was that until there was an elected council, Saanich Municipality had no authorized body to negotiate with.

Under this plan it would not be necessary to borrow any money to cover equipment and buildings for fire protection provided the figure expected from Saanich in the apportionment of assets is the estimated $28,000.

Time and trouble could be saved right at the start, Mr. Pickles explained, in not having to organize a fire department by the adoption of this plan.

"But it would be necessary that we must know the charge that is to be made to Saanich for this service," he pointed out. "Such a charge would have to be made on a year-to-year basis with possible increases due to annual wage negotiations of the fire departments."

Mr. Pickles stated that while this plan had great personal appeal to him, he was mostly interested in getting the best dollar and cent arrangement for the new municipality.

Second Plan

Under the second scheme proposed by candidate Pickles, it was to be assumed that it was possible to arrange for adequate outside fire protection due to unreasonable costs. It would then be necessary to provide volunteer fire brigades to service Central Saanich.

To this end the speaker explained he had gone to considerable length to enquire as to the practicability of volunteer fire protection, other municipalities.

After careful checking of costs he had decided that the cost of professional fire protection for Central Saanich would prove too great a burden for their resources.

To answer this problem Mr. Pickles second plan calls for the establishment of two volunteer brigades which would operate in co-operation with the Sidney fire department. This, he felt, would provide adequate fire protection at an annual cost which would be well within the means of the new municipality.

"However," Mr. Pickles stressed, "I must make my position perfectly clear, that I have a perfectly open mind as to which fire protection service we adopt. My only concern is which plan offers the best combination of fire service and annual cost to the ratepayer."

Under the volunteer system two fire halls would be erected, with probable locations on the West Saanich Road at Brentwood and the East Saanich Road at Saanichton. Another advantage of the volunteer brigades as pointed out by Candidate Pickles was that in time the municipality would be able to acquire both the buildings and equipment.

Hiring fire protection would cost approximately $3,500 a year, and that of operating a volunteer department, including the purchase of equipment.

37 FIRES DURING 1950

Members of the Sidney Volunteer Fire Brigade responded to 37 fire calls in North Saanich and adjoining territory during the year 1950, records of the department indicate.

Seventeen of the calls were received during the morning hours and 20 in the afternoon.

Fire calls were most numerous during July while June and September saw the fewest calls.

Calls were divided by months as follows:

January	4
February	2
March	3
April	5
May	4
June	1
July	7
August	2
September	1
October	4
November	2
December	2

Types of Fires

House fires	7
Chimney	15
Outbuildings	1
Grass and bush	10
Auto	1
High tension line	1
False Alarms	2

During the year 50 parades were held at the fire hall, all of which were attended by Fire Chief G. A. Gardner. A total of 1418 man-hours of attendance at these evening sessions were registered during the 12-month period.

Fire loss during the year 1950 in North Saanich is estimated by Fire Chief Gardner at $400. What this figure might have been were it not for the work of the brigade, is difficult to assess.

Public Health Nurse Retires

Miss Olive Johnson, R.N., public health nurse for North Saanich district since September, 1948, has resigned her appointment and taken up residence with her mother in Vancouver.

Miss Johnson resided in Sidney and was well known in the schools and other public health work.

Her successor has not yet been named.

SUPPORTER OF NOMINATION

Announcement of the nominations for the election in Central Saanich reported in last issue of The Review listed supporter for candidate Raymond Lamont as J. M. Hood. This was read from a handwritten list and should have been J. A. Wood.

FOUND DEAD AT SALT SPRING

John Evelyn McDonald, 70, a resident for eight months of Vesuvius Bay, Salt Spring Island, was found dead in his shack by neighbor at 11 a.m. December 27. Death had occurred half-an-hour before the arrival of the doctor from coronary thrombosis.

Candidate

PERCY THORP

P. E. Thorp, Keating farmer who is a candidate in the voting on Saturday for the post of reeve of Central Saanich Municipality, returned to his home on Sunday evening after a Yuletide holiday with his son at Redwood City, California.

"Californians are much more concerned about the seriousness of the 'cold war' in Korea than are the people of British Columbia," he told The Review this week. "Air raid precautions are much more further advanced than here and many people are convinced that a third World War is probable."

Happy To Be Home

"After spending three weeks in a most attractive part of California, I have returned home to Central Saanich very happy with my lot here," he declared. "I wouldn't want to reside in the southern state because of the excessively rapid pace of life there. Everyone is under too great a strain."

Mr. Thorp has been busy this week in connection with his campaign which will culminate in Saturday's balloting. He outlined his platform at a meeting on Tuesday evening and will speak again at a second meeting on Thursday. "On my return I was delighted to learn the names of the five candidates for the four council vacancies," he said to The Review. "Each one is a man of high calibre who I know will be willing to work for the good of Central Saanich. Regardless of which councillors are chosen, it is apparent to me that the affairs of the new municipality will be in competent hands and my only interest is that Central Saanich shall prosper."

"I do personally urge all residents of the district to attend all meetings and ask questions to gain the most information possible prior to election day," he concluded.

A. W. Murphy Heads Parks Society, 1951

Plan Celebration Of Sidney Day This Summer

A. W. Murphy, of Sidney, physical training instructor in Saanich School District, was elected president of North Saanich War Memorial Parks Society at the annual meeting of the organization in Sidney school on Tuesday evening. He succeeds Geo. Gray, retiring president of the society.

Discussion centred on the form of celebration of the forthcoming Sidney Diamond Jubilee this year and it was generally agreed that this should be incorporated with Sidney Day and that all other organizations in the district should be invited to assist. To this end a meeting of representatives of the various organizations will be held on Jan. 30, at St. Andrew's Hall.

The Officers

Other officers of the society were named as follows: Mrs. Joan Ethier, secretary; Geo. Gray, treasurer; directors: B. L. Forster, A. W. Murphy, W. J. Skinner and C. M. Pearson; associate directors: Bert Bath, W. W. Gardner, J. Taylor, C. T. Overman, F. G. Richards, B. H. Ethier, W. Helman, H. O. Schoening, S. Magee, N. E. West, D. E. Breckenridge, H. Fox, D. Forster, M. F. Connor, K. Wallace, Mrs. R. Melville, Mrs. D. S. Godwin, Mrs. L. B. Scardi. (Continued on Page Ten)

WINTER IS ALMOST OVER

Winter is almost over! This is the opinion of Mrs. Alex McDonald, who resides on the waterfront in Sidney.

"A week ago the geese assembled in formation and flew northward. At present the ducks are gathering for their annual migration. These are indications that spring is not far away," she told The Review.

Mrs. McDonald, a long time resident of Sidney, pointed out that the present winter weather is normal for this district. There has been little frost in recent weeks.

Many flowers are still blooming in North Saanich gardens.

PIONEER SAANICH PENINSULA BUILDER

YEARS OF HARD WORK DIDN'T SHORTEN HIS LIFE

Modern Vancouver Island has grown up with Alex Lacoursiere.

When the veteran builder arrived on the island in 1888 the City of Victoria consisted of two streets, Government and Douglas. Earth and mud formed the only pavement and all the sidewalks were boards. An Indian, clad in a loincloth, was as likely encountered as a white man in the customary dress of the period. The native Indians were still resident on the Songhees Reserve and Craigflower was only in the budding stage.

Mr. Lacoursiere is among the oldest builders on Saanich Peninsula. He is probably the oldest of all builders in the area to be still active in the commercial field. On Sunday, January 7, he celebrated his 82nd birthday at his home on West Saanich Road. Only last year he was engaged in the repairs to the Government wharf at Swartz Bay.

One of a family of 10 children, the veteran builder is the only surviving member of his family. He was born in the Province of Quebec in January, 1869. After his initial training as a carpenter Mr. Lacoursiere was engaged in that capacity with the C.P.R. In the latter part of last century he moved to Fort William, where he built a number of elevators. Those were the days when all elevators were of wood. Reinforced concrete was yet to come.

Couch Builder

By steps he gradually moved further west until he arrived in Victoria when the century had still a dozen years to run. His first employment in the city was with A. J. Smith, who operated a couch building concern on Bastion Square. In the first years of his residence in B.C. Mr. Lacoursiere was engaged in the construction of the first Catholic school on the Songhees Reserve. Later he built 13 houses at Craigflower for the Indians who were moving out of the reserve that is now part of the City of Victoria. Another prominent construction on which he was engaged was the St. Andrew's Cathedral in that city.

In 1894 Victoria was stricken with smallpox. The combination of the danger from disease and the difficulty of finding work at that time prompted the easterner to move to the mainland. In 1899 he arrived in Sidney City. This was the time when a carpenter earned 25c per hour. Sidney City boasted of one hotel and one barber shop. For a time he was engaged at the Two Friends' Mine. He then went on to nearby Silvertown, where he built a hotel. The hotel finished, he moved to Ferguson and took up his engagement with the Silver Cup Mining Company. The first commission at the new centre was the construction of a stamp mill. The building was situated on a slope of 45 degrees. Above the camp was a straight rise to the top of the mountains and below, far below, was the creek.

After the first storms the underside of the stamp mill was washed away. A hole in the ground left room under the unit for the passage of a good-sized rig. The company operating the mill was an ironworks in San Francisco. The same mine as equipped with a Riblet tramway. Operating on the principle that the laden cars running down the tracks drew the empty cars up, the tramway was a common equipment on such undertakings. During his stay at the camp Mr. Lacoursiere was faced with the task of rebuilding the tramway. A snow-slide had removed the towers, trucks and all equipment. Having rebuilt the tramway, he then took over the operation.

Landslide

Before he pulled out of the mining camp the builder was resident in the bunkhouse. Early one morning the only sound to be heard was that of the cook, who was rising to prepare breakfast. At the sound of rumbling, suggestive of (Continued on Page Five)

SYDNEY PICKLES

Candidate for the reeveship of Central Saanich Municipality, Sydney Pickles, Mount Newton Cross Road farmer, addressed a public meeting on Tuesday evening and will speak again at a second meeting on Thursday. The election is scheduled for Saturday.

In a statement to The Review on Tuesday, Mr. Pickles said:

"I earnestly hope that every possible voter within the new municipality will turn out and record his or her vote on Saturday next, as this will show that the electors are not apathetic to important issues at stake. In this way our democracy will be preserved which will please me greatly, regardless of the outcome."

Economy

"On the question of economy of operation of our new municipality, as I see it, it is of the utmost importance and during the first two years at least that the reeve and councillors should give their services in the interests of public duty and only be compensated for expenses which they may incur on the business of the municipality whilst outside its boundaries.

"As regards other administrative policies, these will have to be most carefully analyzed by the incoming council in order to provide a sound economical administration and if this is done I am confident from the large amount of information I have at my disposal that we will have one of the most secure rural municipalities in British Columbia. We have ample municipal finances on the present basis and all that remains is the most intelligent use to be made of them."

LEAVE FOR PACIFIC

Among the crew of the Stonehaven, weather ship which left Victoria on Monday for the Pacific, were Frank and Jim Dignan, of Brentwood, and Mr. Tebbitts, of Sidney.

THORP EXPLAINS VIEWS AT KEATING MEETING

Urges Careful Planning In Early Stages of Municipal Growth

Fire protection in Central Saanich cannot be clearly planned until it is ascertained what funds are at the disposal of the incoming council. Candidates for seats on the council, speaking at South Saanich Institute Hall at Keating on Tuesday evening, expressed their general views on the problem of volunteer fire crews but none would commit himself without the information regarding the financial position of the municipality.

Opening the addresses was Percy E. Thorp, candidate for the reeveship. He explained his previous history in municipal affairs in Alberta.

Reviewing his plans for the operation of the new municipality Mr. Thorp explained that the proposals he offered were for the consideration of the incoming council.

"As far as I am concerned," he said, "these are plans which I have in the back of my mind. They will not necessarily be put into practice. It is the duty of the reeve to advise."

"The municipal hall should be very modest," observed Mr. Thorp. "It should be placed in that part of the municipality which council and residents think best."

Police

He then spoke of policing the municipality. "The best police system we could get here would be the R.C.M.P.," he asserted.

Fire protection is very critical in the municipality, said the candidate for the reeveship. Mr. Thorp believed that some arrangement should be made with Saanich Municipality, whereby Central Saanich could call on them for assistance. He commented on the provision of hydrants in the Brentwood Waterworks District. "I have no wish to quarrel with Saanich," he continued, "and I hope the council will back me on that stand."

Taxes are an unknown quantity. "I am making no promises whatsoever that taxes will be reduced, will stay the same as they are or that they will not go up," Mr. Thorp continued with a positive promise. He offered a guarantee that every tax dollar would be spent to purchase a full dollar's worth of goods or services. He called a cautionary note into his address when he warned ratepayers not to expect too much for the first year.

For the initial stages of the new council there should be no heavy expenditures, he said. A policy of no heavy expenditures on equipment or other expenses should be observed until the municipality is on its feet. Mr. Thorp had a word of advice to the ratepayers. "I don't care how you vote," he said, "but I want you to vote. I want you to go home and think who are the best men to run your business for you, then go and vote. It's the only way in which you can show your interest."

In reply to a question from the floor Mr. Thorp stated that he was in favor of payment to councillors. "A rumor has been going round," he said, "that I am going to ask $2,500. I do not expect that and the law would not permit it if I did."

He drew a simile when he suggested that the farmer who leaves his fields to pursue the business of the council is unable to find a hired man to do his work for nothing.

Up To The People

A second question from the floor—Mrs. M. Salt was the questioner again—enquired did Mr. Thorp sign the petition for incorporation. The reply was that Mr. Thorp did not think that secession was the answer to the problems facing the former ward. Amid applause Mrs. Salt rose once more to ask her final question, had Mr. Thorp studied the problems facing the ratepayers or the reasons for discontent under the old system? The candidate observed that it was for the people to tell the new council what their problems are.

Mr. Thorp concluded with the comment that it was the first time in his extensive experience of municipal affairs that he had addressed an election meeting. Mrs. Salt was up to the occasion. Once again she was on her feet noting (Continued on Page Four)

between you and your neighbours

CHANCES ARE you have a lot in common with your neighbours. But there is an important difference between your plans for the future and theirs.

There is something special, for instance, about your plans for retiring. You have your own ideas about how much income you'll need to live on in your later years. And you also determine at what age you'll want to start "taking it easy".

Likewise, you face different problems in protecting the family income in case anything happens to you.

With life insurance you can find security in both of these ways — arranged to fit your own special needs. You have a choice of many different kinds of policies for different purposes. And the services of trained life underwriters are at your beck and call to help you make that choice wisely.

Nothing but Life Insurance gives YOU this control over your future.

So today — and tomorrow — rely on your own life insurance to meet your own personal needs!

JUNE ANN BAILEY
WED IN VICTORIA

Metropolitan United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when June Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bailey, Duran Road, Brentwood, became the bride of Francis Hohenadel, of Penticton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dusty rose suit with black velvet accessories and orchid corsage. Her only jewelry was an heirloom cameo brooch.

Mrs. John Turner as matron of honor, wore a grey wool suit with navy blue accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Bob Marshall was best man for his brother-in-law and ushers were Fred Bailey, the bride's brother, Morris Lundy and Roy Luchnow. A reception was held at Terry's where S. Vincent proposed the bridal toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Hohenadel left on a honeymoon in Washington before taking up residence in Penticton.

Teams Win Three

It was a gala night for Saanichton basketball fans Saturday night in the Agricultural Hall. Taking three games out of four, spectators witnessed the popular Pee Wee girls in the first event, nose out the Brentwood youngsters by 1 point, amid thunderous applause in their first game of a total-point three-game series for the Saanichton Community Club trophy.

In the second event, the first game of a round-robin, Saanichton trounced the Brentwood Midget girls by a 17-3 decision with plenty of excitement and good basketball in evidence.

Featuring the third game, Saanichton Junior boys hosted the St. Louis College from Victoria, presenting good form in ball handling to defeat the Victorians by a 23-16 score.

Lastly, Scott and Peden's squad in an exhibition game with the Saanichton Seniors, brought the evening to a close with a beautiful performance of team play and miraculous shooting that thoroughly trounced the home team, but provided spectators with many thrills.

Following games are scheduled for Saturday night:

Saanichton Midget boys vs. Brentwood boys.

Saanichton Seniors, West Heat, (Victoria) playoff for Knockout cup.

LICENSING IS OPPOSED

Brentwood Bay Boatmen's Association, headed by Maurice Atkins, of Brentwood, is opposed to licensing of sports fishermen.

Following is a copy of a letter forwarded by the association to A. J. Wetmore of Vancouver, official of the federal government fisheries department:

Dear Mr. Wetmore:
At a meeting of the Brentwood Bay Boatmen's Association, held on January 4, 1951, all members being present, the following motion was unanimously approved by the association:

"That this association go on record as being opposed to the suggested change in the fish and game regulations, calling for a sports fishing license in certain areas of the tidal water of this coast."

In addition to the above motion, the following was also put to the members of the association and unanimously approved:

"That this association further protests the suggested license fee of $2.50 for residents, and $10 for non-resident anglers, in certain areas of the tidal waters of this coast."

In our opinion the suggested license fee of $10 for non-resident anglers shows an apparent lack of understanding of the real value of the tourist industry to this province. Many thousands of tourists who enter the province from other parts of Canada and the United States, although keen sports fishermen, have only allotted a day or so of their holiday for purposes of fishing on this coast. A very large percentage of them will most certainly feel disinclined to invest in fishing licences, a sum of money, which in the case of a family, may easily amount to $40 or $50 for a day's fishing."

Briefly, the following is a summary of our members' reasons for objecting to the proposed license fees:

1. It would affect adversely all tourist business on the coast of B.C.

2. The proposed license fee would have no value from the point of view of conservation. It is a well established fact that on this coast, the number of fish caught by sports fishermen is negligible in comparison to the commercial catch. The value of the sports fishermen's catch is far offset by the money they invest in gear, boats, lodging, meals, guides, etc.

3. There appears to be no reason to believe that Saanich Inlet would continue to be excluded from the regulation if Qualicum

Miss Jacquelyn Rosman celebrated her eighth birthday Saturday afternoon at a delightful party held at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. Rosman, Mount Newton Cross Road. Games and contests were played, winners being: Anne Heal, Toni Proski, Margaret Wheeler, Maria and Doreen Greenway. A sit-down birthday lunch was served from a daintily laid table covered with a lace cloth centred with a bowl of tiny spring violets. A heart-shaped birthday cake with eight pink candles and flower holders completed the attractive decorations. Mrs. George Doney assisted the hostess with serving. Those present were: Anne Heal, Anne Fromage, Toni Proski, Marion and Doreen Greenway, Elaine Edgell, Margaret Wheeler, Nick Wright, Joan Looy, Virginia Townsend and Janet Rosman.

The monthly meeting of the Saanichton Community Club was held Thursday evening at the Orange Hall with President R. Godfrey in the chair. In a report of the Christmas activities, it was felt the outstanding success of the children's party and the 500 card party was due to the co-operation of the workers of the club, and thanks were extended to numerous members. A letter of thanks will also be sent to J. Nanenarrow, of Seattle, for donating the children's balloons at the party. A discussion followed as to the possibilities of a display of work of the handicraft classes at the end of the season. Further discussion on the matter will be brought up at the next meeting.

The next two end parties, commencing on Jan. 17, will be convened by Mrs. H. Hickford and Gwen Nanenarrow, Major Dadds and R. Godfrey. A motion was carried that films be shown at the next meeting. Refreshments served by the ladies, brought the meeting to a pleasant conclusion.

At an executive meeting of the Saanichton P.T.A., President Mrs. W. Turner presided, and the program for the monthly meeting discussed. The program will consist of the presentation of six film strips which have been purchased for the school, entitled, "Timber, From Forest to House," "The History and Settlements of Canada," "B.C., Yukon, and N.W.T.," "Great Lakes Shipping," "Pacifi Salmon Run," and "Orphan Willie," a health picture. An impromptu scene which will re-enact problems in child upbringing with regard to home and school relations, will be presented by members of the P.T.A.

M. McConnell visited over the holiday season with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sarrup, Saanichton, and returned to his home in northern B.C. by plane.

Mrs. Kathleen Thomson, of Vancouver, spent the holiday season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Thomson, Mount Newton Cross Road.

Mrs. J. Patterson, Saanichton, is a patient in Rest Haven hospital, Nanaimo.

SCHOOL NOTES

(By Harry Hoskin)

We returned to school to find our basement playroom ready for rainy-day play. Mr. and Mrs. Mills painted two white hopscotch and two shuffleboard diagrams on the red floor and two mattresses are ready for tumbling practices.

Mr. Carmichael thanked the boys and girls for a pair of work gloves they gave him for Christmas. He also thanked us for keeping the school grounds tidy last term.

We are looking forward to seeing the National Film Board reels circulated in the schools monthly. This month we plan to invite parents and friends to see "Eye Witness, No. 15," a film about Ottawa River power, Alberta soil restoration and the New Brunswick lobster season; "How to Build An Igloo," "Look to the Forest," about forest conservation and "Silks and Sulkies," about a harness race in P.E.I. Adults will also see "On Stage," about amateur play production.

IT MUST NOT STOP

OPERATION of the vital Brentwood-Mill Bay ferry service must be continued. For many years it has proved invaluable to business houses and individuals alike and there is nothing to indicate that the period of usefulness of this service will end until a bridge is built between North Saanich and the Vancouver Island mainland.

All costs are rising and the expenses of ferry operators are no exception. But the service is essential and it would be a very retrograde step indeed if the ferry ceased to operate.

The Review agrees wholeheartedly with Arthur Ash, Saanich M.L.A., in his plea to the minister of public works to reconsider the whole matter of terminating the service. We'll be happy to hear that the ferry will remain in service after the end of January.

AN IMPRESSIVE SLATE

RESIDENTS of the new Municipality of Central Saanich are to be warmly congratulated. They know, even before the first election which will name a reeve and four councillors, that they're going to be well represented at the council table. The calibre of the seven candidates who seek five seats on the council is exceedingly high and regardless of which five are selected at the polls it's already apparent that the business of British Columbia's newest municipal district is going to be conducted in a sane, sensible way.

If further proof were needed that Central Saanich is distinctly a rural, agricultural municipality, one need only glance at the occupations of the seven candidates. With one exception they are all farmers or retired farmers. The lone exception is a man trained in heavy industry and, if elected, his experience would be of value in various municipal fields.

Farming comprises the greatest industry of Central Saanich. The requests of farmers, it is certain, will not fall on deaf ears in the council chamber.

Two able men, both experienced in the municipal field, seek the reeve's chair. Here again the residents are fortunate for whichever candidate is selected, the council will be guided by an experienced hand at the helm. No person can make a success of any new enterprise until he has gained some knowledge of it. This truth is as apparent in the municipal field as in any other.

Five representative, intelligent gentlemen have offered their services for the four councillor vacancies. In a way it's a pity that there are not five vacancies. But in the long run it's always much better to have clear cut elections rather than acclamations. It makes the position of the elected councillors a much stronger one.

Two of the seven public spirited candidates will fail to gain election. Neither need feel any regret for he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he's offered his services in a good cause and that his selfless action is appreciated.

The Review has long served the district which is today Central Saanich. The two have grown in stature together during nearly four decades. It is rather interesting to note that every one of the seven candidates nominated last week has been a regular subscriber to this newspaper for a long time. This is further proof that each is a public minded man, interested in the development and progress of his district. Rural areas from one end of Canada to the other are well served by their weeklies. The Review will endeavor always to assist in the sound growth of Central Saanich in every way possible.

There are approximately 1,000 ratepayers in the new municipal area. The district's first council will be elected at the polls on Saturday of this week. Nothing could launch it in a more promising way than by a heavy vote on Saturday. Too often in recent years ratepayers have been neglecting their responsibility under democracy of casting their ballots. We'd like to see at least a 90 per cent vote on Saturday. It would have far reaching effects in the municipal life of the new district.

CLOUDED HORIZONS

THESE are troublous times. Every day brings further news reports which indicate that nations are gearing themselves for war—even though the majority hope devoutly that war will never rage again.

Realization is gradually being driven home to Canadians, however, that whether their country is driven into a state of war or not, they will be expected to make sacrifices of manpower and money anyway. Our whole economy is gradually being put onto a wartime basis and this movement may be expected to grow all during 1951 and longer.

How do all these changes affect this district? All through Washington, Oregon and California air raid precautions are being carried out daily. Mass evacuation of children from schools is being practised. Shelters are being constructed. Should some leadership be given to this type of safety precaution in this area? It's a subject worth considerable study.

On Salt Spring Island an active organization has been set up to deal with possible disaster. This body is deserving of every commendation. But if it's a worth while move on Salt Spring Island, should the north part of the Saanich Peninsula take a leaf from the same book?

Press reports last week indicated that final routing of the new Victoria-Patricia Bay Airport highway had not been determined until a decision has been reached on the enlargement of the airport's runways. It is a well-known fact that the federal government owns property running practically to Sidney which was acquired with an eye to possible future runway extensions. Residential and other development in North Saanich is unquestionably being delayed until this important governmental decision is reached. The federal government should make up its mind about airport development here without delay both with an eye to possible military requirements and to allow this district to grow and expand properly.

The new session of parliament opens in Ottawa this month. The Review emphasizes that this decision should be given a high priority during government deliberations.

Brotherly Love

BY BLUEBELL

Already we are well started in the new year. According to an old Scottish proverb, when we have reached the anniversary of the feast of kings, January 6, the shadow made by the sun on the sun dial is "a cock stride longer." Days lengthen and soon spring will be in the air.

We closed our chapter of 1950 but the memory of its experiences remain, experiences of good or evil—the good to be cherished and exalted, the evil to be destroyed out of consciousness.

Our good King George gave us a motto to practise in daily living, in his Christmas message to his people. "If we are to survive we must learn to love and not to hate; we must learn to create, not to destroy." Was ever such a message more needed to be broadcast into a world torn by dissensions, confronted every day by new hazards, fresh problems for statesmen? Love is what the world is needing. Not what is commonly called love, personal attachment, that is often as changeable as a weather cock—a travesty on Divine Love whose power launched the world into being. We cannot truly create anything without an apprehension of that love which includes intelligence, that links us up with the God Who is Love, and who bids us radiate that love to all creation.

Tennyson writes: "I doubt not through the ages one increasing purpose runs. And the thoughts of men are broadened by the process of the suns." That "increasing purpose," dimly seen by saints and sages in earlier centuries, is becoming sensed by men and women who are looking for a cure for the world's ills. That cure is to learn to love all mankind. "If we are to survive," our King said, we must learn to love and not hate. We must look on our world as "one world," as Wendell Wilkie, of beloved memory, wrote, we must look on the different nations as all members of one family. Those despicable words, "Chinks," "Dagos," "Niggers," must be ruled out of speech. They are vulgar, impudent, and betray a low mentality. They are not funny nor are they descriptive. The Chinese are a very intelligent member of our world family, with a culture that flourished when Britons were barbarians. The Italians have made to the world a contribution of art comparable to none. And among our American negroes we can count men and women in all the professions.

Brothers All

Let us look up to these and all the rest of our world family as brothers. Brotherly love refines and exalts. Professor Clarke Murray, of McGill University, unearthed a beautiful story of brotherly love, he found it in the records of the building of Solomon's Temple at Jerusalem. King Solomon was looking about Mount Moriah for a site for the temple. In the fields on the mountain lived two brothers whose farms adjoined. One was a strong, able-bodied farmer with a family. The other was unmarried, lived alone, and was not very strong. It happened in a year of poor harvest that each brother thought compassionately of the other. The weaker one said: "There is my brother, with his little family, and his crop isn't quite sufficient to feed so many. It is a dark night, and he will not see me. If I take some of my sheaves and put them in his field. He would not take them if he knew." That same evening, the stronger brother had a thought: "There is my poor brother—not very well, and he has not much crop. It is a dark night, and he will not see me if I take some of my sheaves and put them in his field." So each brother gathered all his arms could hold of the sheaves of grain, and they met in the well worn path between the farms. The story came to King Solomon's ears, and he said: "There is where I will build the temple. That land is consecrated by brothers' love."

If we would survive in this world crisis, we must learn to love, to have compassion on the whole world. Let us feel a pity for those undeveloped nations, who in their ignorance are being used by the unseen forces of evil, which since time began have tried to destroy "the Lord's anointed." This is the "increasing purpose" that the kingdoms of this world shall "become the kingdoms of the Lord and of His Christ," one of whose names is Divine Love.

Western nations are planning to spend millions and billions of money to arm with guns and bombs for defense. If a minimum of that sum had been spent in the last ten years, or even since the last war, in such a way that there had not been one hungry person on the face of the earth, there would not have been any cry of war now, but a glad song of gratitude would be ringing round the world. The hungry who die every day of starvation in eastern countries would have known what it is to sleep sound, because they had full stomachs.

We have a form of prayer, given by Jesus Christ, and one of the sentences is: "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven." "In earth," mind you. We don't need to pass through the change called death to get into that kingdom. All we have to do is love—love all mankind. Let us learn to love in this way because the people of the world are our brothers. It is quite possible that some of them might not understand our gesture of kindness. They have been exploited and cheated out of the good things of life for so long they might not understand at first. Are there not here at home ungrateful brothers? And there would be some like that in those underprivileged countries. But the prodigal comes at last to his father's house and understands love. It would certainly cost less to feed every hungry person on the other side of the globe, and then when we were finished there, to find all the hungry folk on this continent. I say it would cost less to do that than the sum we are planning to spend on armaments. Then communism would have no foothold and the dear sons and husbands of women in our homeland would not have to give up their lives "to save democracy." The "yellow peril," that was so much talked of some years ago, would become a golden guarantee of goodwill.

The Review's Book Review

"NIGHT WITHOUT STARS," by Winston Graham. Doubleday & Company. 275 pp.

After the Second World War was over there were many former members of the underground movement in France, who were thoroughly trained to break the law. For a number of years they had been heroes when so doing. It was natural that they turn to some kind of occupation that offered the risks to which they had become hardened and at the same time provided an adequate income.

It was into such an atmosphere that Giles Gordon crashed when he returned to France in the early post-war years. He had served with the British Army during the war and his sight was gone. His blindness left him dependent on his remaining senses. When searching for information he made these senses compensate for his lack of vision.

He met a French girl whom he could not see. He became enamored of her despite his difficulties. The story takes the reader through many phases of life in the Nice of the post-war period. To those who know the country it is written with a touch of nostalgia, for the descriptive ability of the author is keen. To those who are not acquainted with life in France it is interesting and vivid.

Peace Was Not Wonderful

(Peterborough Examiner)

"We have but lately reached the termination of a war, long, bloody and expensive beyond example. The peace that has opened upon us, though hailed with rapture by all nations, has not brought the usual fruits of peace in its train." Thus the Kitchener-Waterloo Record quotes another paper. The paper was the Edinburgh Scotsman in its edition of January 25. What year? The year 1817. Napoleon had been defeated at Waterloo two years before.

It is scarcely in the running, but as an instrument of entertainment it is well worth the reading. F.G.R.

... Letters To The Editor ...

RATEPAYERS' ASSOCIATION

Editor, Review.

Sir: In his book "American Commonwealth," James Bryce has this to say: "The choice of one man against another is an imperfect way of expressing the mind of a constituency."

"The action of opinion is continuous; that of voting occasional; and in the interval between the elections of legislatures, changes may take place materially affecting the views of voters."

The voters of Central Saanich might like to be reminded of this as they hand their votes over to the district board. The mistaken belief that now secession has been obtained there is no further use for it. An active association would provide a continuing vehicle through which voters could express their views and define what results they expected from the administration of their affairs in municipal, provincial or federal fields. It is not within the competence of the people to say how these results are to be obtained. This is the function of the executive appointed by the elected members whose duty it would be to see that the methods employed gave the people the results their policy demanded.

Those elected would always seek their policy from those who elected them and for that reason an association would be a mutual benefit, each supporting the other. If we permit those elected to decide policy we delegate power and leave the way open to dictatorship or the imposition of a policy contrary to our interests.

Legislators today are like sand-wich men—pressed between the demand of the people for improvements and the demands of finance to balance the budget by imposing heavier taxes to meet rising costs. Sooner or later a showdown is inevitable, and when it comes our elected members will be forced to choose between a demand that what is physically possible must be made financially possible without confiscation.

What therefore each candidate should answer is: "What is he prepared to do when the sources of taxation are dried up and he is unable to lessen expenditure on essential services?"

A. J. JUKES, "Vines," Saanichton, V.I. January 7, 1951.

Reflections From the Past

20 YEARS AGO

Mrs. V. Zala entertained at a delightful party for little girls at her home at Galiano last Friday. Mrs. Donald New amused the children with numerous games and a dainty supper followed. Among those present were: Mrs. P. Steward, Mrs. R. Hall, Mrs. A. E. Scoones, Mrs. C. O. Twiss, Mrs. C. Elverson, Mrs. S. Page, Mrs. D. New, Julia and Nancy Hall, Ann and Cheery Elverson, Jean and Dorothy Murcheson, Mary, Betty, Margaret and Billy Scoones, Dorothy Page and Ruth Higgs.

A family reunion was celebrated at the home of N. E. Watts, of Sidney, on New Year's Day. In addition to the guests from eastern and central Canada were Mrs. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nunn, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Wark and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. Beale and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. C. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. D. Norbury, Mrs. Lorne Ritchie, E. Jackson, Miss Florence Nunn, W. Jackson, H. C. Watts, Arthur Thornton and Misses Bessie and Mary Jackson.

Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., D.S.O., retired from the B.C. Legislature last week. He has been appointed pensions judge in the western division of the federal tribunal. Capt. Macgregor F. Macintosh, of Salt Spring Island, has announced his intention of seeking nomination as Conservative candidate in the coming by-election to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Col. Peck.

No word has been received of the whereabouts of M. Baba, Japanese resident, of Beacon Avenue. He left on New Year's Day on a fishing trip and failed to return. His boat was a seaworthy craft of the type used up and down the coast. He was last seen about midday on the day he left. Provincial police have been investigating his disappearance, but no trace of the fisherman or his boat has been found. An unconfirmed report stated that his boat was tied up at Roche Harbor.

25 YEARS AGO

Meeting of Salt Spring Island Board of Trade was abruptly postponed on Saturday afternoon when members hurriedly dispersed to go to the assistance of Spencer Percival, whose launch, Sunbeam, was on fire. The owner had experienced difficulties with his motor and had covered it with blankets. These had caught fire. The blaze was soon extinguished and the meeting continued. Officers of the board for 1926 are: President, Rev. G. Dean; secretary-treasurer, A. English; committee: Ganges, A. J. Smith, C. Lang, J. Shaw, L. Chaplin; Pender, Spencer Percival, H. G. Scott, Mr. Bridges, Mr. Corbett, Saturna Island, D. Macfarlane; Galiano, P. Scoones.

While on their way to Lady-smith on Thursday morning Eddie and Dan Lumley, of Ganges, had a narrow escape. Their launch and their clothing caught fire from an explosion caused by a choked feed pipe. Dan Lumley jumped overboard to put out his burning clothes. He is now a patient in the Lady Minto Hospital, undergoing treatment for extensive burns on the face and hands. Eddie Lumley escaped with injuries after breaking through the hatch at the other end of the boat.

Capt. Denroche has decided to build a hotel at Gossip Island, having already built cottages, a store and a large double tennis court. This will soon be a popular summer resort and is already well-known to tourists.

Mrs. Naylor is building an extensive addition to Grandview Lodge at Mayne Island. It will be fitted out with all modern conveniences, electric lighting, central heating and many other facilities. J. Culison is in charge of the construction.

Mrs. A. J. Eaton held a very enjoyable "at home" on Thursday at her home at Fulford. Included among the guests were: Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. G. C. Hamilton, Mrs. Altkin, Miss Freda Altkin, Mrs. Pollock, Mrs. Borradale, Mrs. C. Roberts, Dr. Sutherland, Mrs. T. M. Jackson, Miss Betty Shaw, Miss Beattie Mrs.

Reid, Mrs. Best, Mrs. Speed, Mrs. J. Shaw, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Kitty Allen, Mrs. Springford, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Frank Crofton, Mrs. A. Davis, Mrs. Fred Crofton, Mrs. G. Turner and Mrs. Case-Morris.

The Grainer and the New Era both called in at Fulford last Thursday.

Will Copeland has returned to his boat after spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Copeland, at Saturna.

Harold Payne, accompanied by his daughter, Dora, was cruising around Saturna in the Varuna last week. They returned to Sidney on Monday, taking the Rev. Hubert Payne with them.

Dr. West and Mrs. Porter, of Mayne Island, visited Pender on Saturday, coming by launch to Port Washington.

Mrs. Rose and Miss Clare Rose have arrived at Galiano from Alert Bay. They are the guests of Mrs. Philip Steward.

Miss Mollie Akerman has left Fulford to resume her teaching duties at Salmon Arm.

William Horth, of Courtenay, is on a business trip to Victoria and is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Horth, Horth's Cross Road, for a few days.

30 YEARS AGO

The executive officers of the North Saanich Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Veitch on Tuesday afternoon. Among other matters the meeting decided to arrange a series of concerts in Sidney. The first will be held during Easter week. The dates have not yet been settled.

Best English prints, 23 cents per yard; children's shoes, 70 cents; men's socks, 20 cents; butter cloth, three yards for 25 cents; men's shirts, $1.85; women's silk blouses, $3.15; muslin and voile blouses, $1.98. Advt.

H. J. Smith, of Bradstreet's, was in Sidney last week on a business trip.

Miss Hattie Gherke returned home to Sidney this week after a visit to her parents at Port Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Johnstone, of Vancouver, are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. McLeod, of Beacon Avenue.

Mrs. Deakin, of James Island, was in Sidney last week.

C. F. Williams left on Monday for Courtenay on a business trip. Mrs. Derrinberg, of Saanichton, was a visitor to Sidney during the week.

L. J. Horth and his bride are expected from England shortly.

Dolly Thomas, of James Island, spent the week-end in Sidney as the guest of Miss Alice Cornfeld.

MORE ABOUT THORP

that it was the first time she had asked questions of such a meeting.

Harold Andrew, candidate for a seat on the council, remarked that he had no experience of municipal affairs. He had the affairs of the municipality at heart and he expected to devote considerable work.

"I intend to work in harmony with the rest of the council if I am elected on Saturday," he said. "If I am not elected I am sure that the rest are good men and will be able to work harmoniously." Mr. Andrew did not consider that the provision of three fire halls was necessary. Two would be adequate, he believed.

He also looked to the time when an adequate water supply would be available to residents on the east side of the municipality.

One Fire Hall

Albert Dancy recalled the time, just over a year ago, when he ran unsuccessfully for the Saanich Council. One fire hall in the centre of the municipality would provide adequate protection for all the area, he believed. It would then be only three miles from the furthest point of the municipality. He would like to see two paid men at least. They would take charge in the event of a fire and they would be responsible for the clearing up of equipment after the fire.

"All the candidates are friends of mine," he concluded.

hope they will still be friends of mine when this campaign is over." Raymond Lamont held his audience as he raced through the factors which led to his nomination. Although he was still "wet behind the ears" he felt that there should be an adequate representation of younger men on the council. He had always been a supporter of secession in the old Ward Six.

"If I am elected I will do all I can to help," he promised. "If I am not elected I will still do all I can," he added.

Willard Michell expressed his views on fire protection. "I would like to see a paid man on duty at all times," he said. It is easy to get people to go to a fire, he remarked, but it is not so easy to get them to look after the equipment at the fire station. Mr. Michell would like to see the purchase of a truck for road maintenance. Larger projects could then be contracted out. He expressed the hope that Central Saanich could work with the old municipality by exchanging equipment.

Lorne Thomson appeared shortly after his name was called by Chairman C. S. Goode. He had already appeared at the election meeting at Brentwood. "This is the most important election that a Central Saanich audience has attended," he said, "because it's your own money you're spending." The first need will be a good clerk, said Mr. Thomson. He may have to be paid a good salary, but "you get what you pay for."

"I am the ship and you've got to steer me," he concluded, "if we go on the rocks we sink or swim together."

AWARDED "OSCAR" FOR BEST SPEECH

Miss Gloria John, of Sidney, was awarded the "Oscar" when she presented a brief lesson on the use of gestures in speech, at a meeting of the Victoria Toast-mistress' Club recently.

The award was given in token of the best speech of the evening. Members, totalling 28, heard a series of speeches, ranging from one-minute addresses by new members to a ten-minute speech by Mrs. H. Simpson.

This is the second consecutive year in which Miss John has won the "Oscar."

an earthquake, the cook ran to the door. The same rumbling had roused the foreman, who slept immediately adjacent to the entrance. He hauled the cook back from the doorway and slammed the door. As he did so a landslide hit the bunkhouse. The roof was sloping and ran into the hillside.
Many tons of earth and rock,
accompanied by snow and ice, slid off the reinforced roof and into the creek below. When the slide was over the snow was piled outside the door higher than the roof.

NEW YEAR IS CELEBRATED AT LARGE NUMBER OF SALT SPRING HOMES

Among the many New Year gatherings on Salt Spring Island was a delightful no-host party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Acland where, amongst lovely Christmas decorations and glittering lights, about 60 guests kept up the gay and festive spirit of the New Year with dancing and music till the "wee sma' hours." Mrs. Peter Cartwright greatly entertained all with her amusing songs and Irl Bradley supplied instrumental solos and accompaniments on his guitar.

Guests included Lieut.-Cmdr. and Mrs. E. L. Borradaile, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. D. Blanchett, Mr. and Mrs. Irl Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Best, Mrs. D. A. Bennett, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. J. H. Carvosso, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H.

Deyell, Mr. and Mrs. Zene Kropinski, Mr. and Mrs. J. Garland, Capt. and Mrs. T. A. Millner, Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Wolfe-Milner, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Walsh, Misses Marjorie Hardy, June Mitchell, Elsie Price, Catherine Popham, Col. A. B. Kropinski, G. Capt. A. R. Layard, and Kenrick Price.

At Ganges Another enjoyable New Year no-host party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Eaton, Ganges. Their home was decorated for Christmas with colored lights, bells and streamers. White chrysanthemums adorned the rooms and the supper table, centred with a large crystal bowl of holly, flanked by red candles in crystal holders, looked charming. Ably assisting with refreshments were Mrs. Ira White, Mrs. L. F. Nicholson and Mrs. Bishop. Among those present were: Mrs. D. A. Bennett, G. Capt. and Mrs. W. E. Dipple, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Frey, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hanke, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Ira White, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Wilson, Miss Sylvia Birch, Inspector G. Birch and Fred Ball.

After Five Party At Ganges Hill

Amongst the season's most delightful gatherings on Salt Spring Island was that of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Lockwood, who entertained recently at an after five party given by them at their home on Ganges Hill.

The charming decorations consisted of giant yellow chrysanthemums and snowberries combined with holly, which were arranged throughout the rooms. The feature attraction was the ivory fireplace, over which was a setting of large silvered pine cones and groups of tall red tapers in brass holders.

The hostess was assisted during the evening by her daughter, Miss Dolores Lockwood, also by Miss Barbara Hanke.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Torchy Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Acheson, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Ankenman, Lieut.-Cmdr. and Mrs. E. L. Borradaile, Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Boyes, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Crofton, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dawson, G. Capt. and Mrs. W. E. Dipple, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Eaton, Dr. and Mrs. A. Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Frey, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hanke, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. E. Kellman, Mr. and Mrs. G. Leigh Spencer, Capt. and Mrs. J. Birch, Fred Ball, Donald Corbett, Fred Morris and George Meyer.

Children's Party At Ganges Home

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Shove and their daughter, Nonie, entertained recently at a children's party given by them at their home, "Galilee," Ganges.

In a lovely setting of evergreens, large Christmas tree, streamers, colored lights and scenes depicting Santa in miniature, with his sleigh and reindeer crossing snow-covered hills and forests, the children enjoyed an afternoon of games and fun. The hosts were ably assisted in entertaining by Donald Corbett.

At a table arranged with holly and a Christmas centerpiece flanked by red and green tapers, tea was served to the young guests. These included Robin Best, Patrick Marcus and Sharon Crofton, Daphne and Geoffrey Corbett, Maxwell and Hugh Jones, Wendy, Bobby and Jim Morris, Jane Springfield, Alan Wilson. Among parents and others present were Mrs. Fred Crofton, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Best, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Desmond Crofton, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Crofton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. John Crofton, Mr. and Mrs. Denison Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Ormonde Springfield, Mrs. Dorothy White, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Wilson, Misses Denise and Dulcie Crofton.

Ganges Merchants Entertain Children

Business men and stores at Ganges provided a fund for the entertainment of the children during the few days prior to Christmas.

For this purpose a huge tree was erected at the White Elephant Cafe, where 250 children were welcomed by Santa Claus, entertained to hot dogs, pop, and given presents and candy. The children previously had had a great thrill as they watched Santa waving to them from the air as his plane descended at Ganges.

The entertainment was organized by Mrs. Charles Hogen, Mrs. E. L. Harker and Mrs. Stanley Wagg assisted by Mrs. W. Hobday, Mrs. Colin Mout, Mrs. Hugh Stewart, Mrs. E. V. Bettis, Mrs. Timberlake, Elvan Walters.

In the contest the first prize, a radio, went to Mrs. Frank Sharpe, Central; second ($5) to Donald White, Cuscheon Lake; third (box of chocolates), Charlie Hunt, Victoria.

Entertain at New Year's Party

Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Henn were hosts recently when, at their home, Ganges, they entertained over 100 guests at a gay and festive New Year's party given by them during the holidays. The rooms were effectively arranged for the occasion with Christmas decorations, evergreens, holly, colored lights and clusters of balloons. Music was supplied for the dance by recordings and Mr. Henn acted as master of ceremonies. Vocal solos by Mrs. Helen Manning and Dick Whalen and amusing stories by Jack Brooks and C. A. Whitehead added to the enjoyment of the evening.

The hostess was assisted in serving supper by Mrs. G. Dewhurst, Mrs. Harold Day, Mrs. S. Donkersley and Mrs. Clifford Wakelin.

Entertains At Fulford

ORDER HONORS VICTORIA FIRM

A Victoria organization, the Sands Mortuary Limited, was recently accepted into the fellowship of an international organization of funeral directors, known in the profession as the Order of the Golden Rule. This affiliation was made possible only by the written approval of many local persons in a position to speak with authority on the subject.

Funeral directors belonging to the order are selected for their ability to uphold the ideals of this international organization. The order has a membership which, literally, extends around the world, and has been in existence for over two decades.

In the funeral directing profession, it is considered a genuine distinction to be accepted into the fellowship of the order, since ordinarily but one funeral director in each community can belong, and the requirements are such that only those funeral directors of high ethical standing in the profession can attain this distinction.

Service The order lays particular stress on the necessity of rendering a service to humanity in time of need that is modern and comprehensive, and at the same time so moderately priced that it is within the reach of all, even those in the most humble circumstances.

The member of the order in each community is identified by means of a symbol, which consists of an armoured knight with raised visor, who supports with his right hand a shield, bearing the motto of the order: "Service measured not by gold but by the Golden Rule." In his left hand the knight grasps a drawn sword, as if to signify his readiness to defend the high principles inscribed upon the shield.

BIG SPRING AT FULFORD

Spring salmon are being caught around the south end of Salt Spring Island this week. Leon King, Beaver Point, caught a 28½ lb. spring in King's Bay on Thursday morning. Many Gifts Donated By Ganges I.O.D.E.

Monthly meeting of the Ganges Chapter I.O.D.E. was held last Friday afternoon at Harbour House, Ganges, with the regent, Mrs. V. C. Best, in the chair.

Correspondence included letters of thanks from local residents acknowledging Christmas gifts.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $66.13.

The educational secretary stated that calendars had been sent to the local schools and to the adopted school at Clearwater, to which Christmas decorations had also been forwarded.

The ex-service convener reported that Christmas parcels, for which the members had donated home cooking and other articles of food to the value of $108, had been sent to eight families, 11 pensioners and five individuals, helping a total of 51 persons. The

New Year Party At Fulford

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hepburn were hosts on New Year's Eve at their usual "open house" party to welcome the New Year. About 28 people enjoyed the evening.

Following a delicious sit-down supper at 11 p.m., 1951 was brought in with the traditional "Auld Lang Syne."

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. Hippiusley, Mr. and Mrs. Gear-Evans, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hepburn, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bittancourt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lacy, Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Lacy, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mollet, Mrs. A. Bennett, Mrs. M. Fellowes, J. Barker, H. Lacy and Capt. MacDonald.

chapter sent $15 to the Lady Minto Hospital for curtains in the I.O.D.E. room and $5 to the Mary L. Bollert Fund towards the lounge in the women's residence in the U.B.C.

In response to an appeal from the Clearwater adopted school a member offered to donate a gramophone. Nominations were taken for officers standing for election at the annual meeting in February. Mrs. Edward Adams was tea hostess for the afternoon.

NOW KNOWN IN B.C. AS...

WE ARE PROUD TO Announce THE MEMBERSHIP APPOINTMENT OF SANDS MORTUARY Ltd.

VICTORIA, B.C., CANADA

There is now a member of the Order of the Golden Rule in your community.

What does that mean to you? Well, it means that this funeral directing firm has qualified for membership in one of the most exclusive organizations in the profession; an international affiliation of funeral directors who may be depended upon to render "Service Measured Not by Gold, but by the Golden Rule."

It means that this firm has qualified itself as having the requisite amount of experience, high moral and ethical standards, modern equipment and facilities, and moderate prices based upon known costs of operation. It means, too, that scores of local people have been contacted, and have expressed their conviction, in writing, that this firm is in every way eligible for the honor of membership in the Order.

By thus making it easy for anyone to recognize a dependable funeral director—through his use of the Symbol reproduced below—the Order feels that it has performed a real service to the public. Not all outstanding members of the mortuary profession are members of the Order of the Golden Rule, but all members of the Order are funeral directors of distinction.

The Order of the Golden Rule is an international organization of funeral directors who may be depended upon to render "Service Measured Not by Gold, but by the Golden Rule."

Egg Prices Continue Downward Move

Poultry market report as supplied by the Dominion Marketing Service, Vancouver, follows:

This market continued in a weak position, with prices showing a further drop on grade "A" large, medium and pullets this week. Present prices are based on delivered values from Alberta, from which point offerings are being freely made.

Egg receipts showed a drop of 16 per cent through registered stations last week, but, due to holidays, a percentage of ungraded stocks was carried over. With hatcheries now fairly active, a drop in receipts is anticipated.

Sales, both locally and to outside points, are showing improvement and are expected to jump sharply with lower prices and increased work camp activity.

With the holiday season over, reports indicate a good clearance of turkey stocks, except a fair holding of small birds. Prices were maintained through New Year's, when sales were moderate. Fowl continues very short, shipments from U.S. points giving some relief. Broilers are in fair supply, heavy chickens limited.

Mulch Increases Yields of Berries

Experiments extending over a three-year period with boysenberries, at the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton, have shown that both sawdust and hay, when applied as a surface mulch, will give increased yields over the standard practice of clean cultivation.

Notes From Saanichton Experimental Station

Soon the 1951 seed catalogues will be in the mail, unfolding their promise of bigger and better crops from your garden. With their advent, gardening enthusiasm for many reaches its highest point, as in the mind's eye one can see the largest, reddest tomatoes, the sweetest and tenderest ears of corn, and the largest, firmest and best-keeping onions that have yet been grown.

The urge to sow all the new and highly-advertised kinds is great, but it should be tempered with a little caution. By all means try as many of the new ones as you wish or have room for, but until you learn more about them, rely on the older, standard sorts, which have been proved to be reliable for your area.

Information as to the vegetable varieties recommended for the area may be obtained free on application to the Dominion Experimental Station, Saanichton, or the Horticultural Branch, Department of Agriculture, Victoria.

There is still time to take cuttings of currants, but do it at once. Currants begin to grow in early spring and once the buds have swollen, they cannot be rooted successfully. Cuttings should be from vigorous shoots of the current season's growth and made as follows: (a) cut the shoots into pieces eight to ten inches long, (b) make a square cut at the base of the cutting just below the bottom bud, (c) leave at least one-half inch of wood above the top bud.

Plant the cuttings as soon as they are taken and place them six inches apart in well-drained garden soil with only two buds showing above ground. A fine lot of rooted cuttings should result. Because growth starts in early spring, autumn planting is advisable. Convenient planting distances are rows six feet apart, with plants five feet apart in the row.

Gooseberries are not so easily propagated from cuttings. Layering is the best method. This is done by cutting back hard all the top growth of a plant in early spring, then after the many new shoots from close down to the main stem are 6 to 8 inches long, in late spring, mound the plant with soil until much of the new growth is covered.

Keep the mound of earth around the parent plant watered during the summer season and 20 or more nicely-rooted layers will result. These are set away from the parent plant and set in a nursery row for a year or set direct into a permanent location. This whole operation can easily be carried out in any garden.

SAANICHTON FUR FARM TOPS MARKET

At the Montreal fur sales last week Hawkins' Fur Farm, of Saanichton, topped the Canadian market when their pastel mink pelts were sold for $50 per pelt. This was the highest price in Canada to date.

The pastel is a blue-taupe color and is known in the fur market as a royal pastel. The terms used by the breeders are not necessarily those employed by the manufacturers of fur coats to denote the same color.

Ted Hawkins, proprietor of the Saanichton farm, explained that the pastel is a mutation and is specially bred to achieve the desired color. He remarked that a new color has been developed. It is known as sapphire and is a sky-blue pelt. There are only 2,200 pelts of that color, Mr. Hawkins added.

Ordinary, or standard, pelts were changing hands at around $30, reported the fur-farmer.

Fur farming in this area has expanded about 25 per cent during the past few years. Although there have been newcomers to the ranks of the breeders the increase is attributable to the expansion of individual farms, rather than to the increase in number. Many established fur farms have steadily increased their stocks during recent years.

The Skilled "Soldier-Tradesmen" of the R.C.E.M.E.

The workshops of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers are expanding rapidly — in step with the growth of the Canadian Army Active Force. The men of the R.C.E.M.E. are doing their part to make Canada strong.

There is an urgent need for skilled tradesmen to man the workshops of this vitally important corps of "soldier-tradesmen". Skilled craftsmen are required to fill the posts of automotive mechanics, fitters, toolmakers, radar and radio technicians, instrument makers, welders, watchmakers, machinists and other key jobs.

If you qualify as a skilled tradesman, there's a place for you in the R.C.E.M.E. You can serve now — when Canada needs you — as an expert "soldier-tradesman".

RE-ENACTMENT OF PRICE CONTROLS IS STUDIED BY ROTARY CLUB

Sidney Rotary Club meeting of Wednesday, January 3, took the form of a "Forum" discussing the question, "Should Price Controls Be Re-enacted in Canada?"

Program chairman S. S. Penny acted as moderator and the panel of four was composed of Gordon German, William James, George Baal and Eric Vickerman.

Each of the members of the panel spoke briefly in turn giving their reasons why such controls should or should not be re-enacted and then questions from the members were directed through the moderator.

Many reasons were given for not having price controls such as: "Not fair if only certain commodities were controlled." "It would only work for a while and then with privations." "Leads to regimentation of society." "Causes further subsidies." "Price controls should not be re-enacted without wage controls, and such control of wages could lead to strikes." "Believe such legislation be reserved for 'times of war' or 'serious inflation'."

In summary the panel was not wholly in favor of the re-enactment of price controls.

The Other Side
On the other hand the members put forward many good questions to the panel interspersed with their own opinions as to why price controls should be re-enacted, and soon:

"Subsidies are being paid now for a variety of goods and a few more would not be serious"

"That even though the majority of workers were paid hourly rates of pay that have more than doubled since 1945, there are still many on fixed incomes with no 'power to strike' in order to obtain salaries necessary for existence." "That no relief is in sight for the minority who live on pensions." "That we now have inflation and also a re-armament program and therefore price controls are required." "That the big business slogan of 'supply and demand' should be tossed aside." "That higher excess profits taxes be imposed on corporations so that further tax relief for individuals and subsidies could be met with the increased revenue of the government."

In summing up the whole evening's discussion, there was no doubt that the majority of those present were in decided favor of the re-enactment of price controls.

The program was a decided success and arrangements are being made for a similarly conducted panel discussion another "timely subject" at an early date.

Visiting Rotarians included George Duck, Arthur Brown and Stewart Evans, O.B.E., all of the Victoria Rotary Club.

A telegram of greetings was sent to Rotary Club of Bountiful, Utah, on January 4, on this, the 55th anniversary of statehood of Utah.

Next week the program is a movie on the "1950 Canadian Golf Open," and members of the Ardmore Golf Club are being invited for this showing which will start at 7:15 p.m.

POET WITH A PROBLEM

Laurie Lee, poet and writer, has been assigned the job of unearthing crazy inventions for the South Bank Exhibition of the Festival of Britain 1951. Among suggestions already received are a "wave machine," made out of 24 dime-store door-knobs and 24 sawn-off hat-pins, and a gadget which, when attached to a hen's tail, rings each time she lays an egg—a "ding" for a good egg, a "dong" for a bad one, and a "ding-dong" for a double-yolk egg. Another inventor offers to throw a rainbow across the Thames.

Sound Effects

Radio sound effects can be so real that they hurt! That's what CBC sound technicians David Tasker (left) and Ed Vincent, of the Toronto studios, discovered during a recent Stage 51 broadcast. The play was "All Quiet on the Western Front," and the boys found that to get the sound of soldiers crawling about on stones and gravel they had to do just that. Here they are, getting well bruised at rehearsal. Dave has his eyes glued to the script as he waits for Ed to shoot off that rifle on cue. Some of the CBC sound effects for drama and variety shows are on records and others are created right in the studios. The boys are equipped to turn on anything from the footsteps of a kangaroo to the creaking timbers in a galleon.

THEY KEEP THE DOCTOR AWAY AND ARE GOOD TO EAT AS WELL

There is no fruit more delicious than a Canadian apple—superbly rich and tangy in flavor. Canadians have become so used to this wonderful fruit that they rarely ever stop to wonder where it came from. It is believed that the apple originated in south-western Asia and then migrated to Europe. Because of its adaptability to the temperate climate, the apple is cultivated in many countries. In Canada the apple originated in Nova Scotia and Quebec but is now grown on a commercial basis in a large scale in four main areas, British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec and Nova Scotia.

Science has at last supplied the reason why the apple has been esteemed throughout the ages—the reason for the ancient couplet about the apples and the doctor. The apple, along with other fruit, was long classed as a flavor food, now the fruit is valued for its vitamin and mineral content. So no longer should Mrs. Housewife regard the apple as a relish or a mere accessory to the diet. The Canadian apple should be a staple fruit in any diet. Nutritionists insist that apples contain important vitamins and minerals, not in great quantities, but the percentage is higher if apples are eaten raw with the skins on.

Apples are fussy and the ultimate quality of apples is not only a function of variety, but also of harvesting, handling and storage. Now the problem of harvesting is up to the fruit grower but, the home economists of the consumer section, Canada department of agriculture can give a few suggestions about the other three factors, variety, handling and storage. First of all the variety. The varieties of apples which are available to Mrs. Housewife in Canada differ with the section of the country in which she is located, but each and every housewife should learn to know the best varieties available in the province in which she lives and buy the proper type at the proper season, for eating and cooking.

Recipe Booklet

To help consumers in Canada, the consumer section has available, free of charge, a recipe booklet for Canadian apples. This booklet lists the various varieties of apples available in Canada, whether they are best suited to cooking or eating and at which month of the year they are best for use. Right now, in the early part of the year, housewives living in western Canada should buy McIntosh, Delicious, Northern Spies or Yellow Newtowns for eating and Winesaps, Northern Spies, Rome Beauty or Yellow Newtowns for cooking.

It is important not to bruise or puncture the skin of apples because this skin provides a natural barrier against mould or other microorganisms. This should be remembered too when choosing apples in the grocery store, because bruised apples will deteriorate rapidly.

Heat Is Fatal

A cool apple is more appetizing than a warm one but actually keeping apples cool is a necessity rather than just a practice to make the apple more appetizing. Heat is fatal to apples so they

Three New Schools Are Inaugurated

A proposal to form three new schools, passed by the Senate of the University of British Columbia on December 15 was formally ratified by the Board of Governors recently. The Board and Senate ruling establishes schools of education, home economics, and nursing.

The number of schools on the university campus now totals seven and is in line with a policy to give more administrative flexibility to departments offering specialized training. Although the schools receive more autonomy under this arrangement they still come under faculty authority.

The schools of education and home economics remain in the faculty of arts and science. The school of nursing is still an integral part of the faculty of applied science. Directors for each school will be appointed in the near future. A course in hospital administration will be established in the near future. Supervised by the director of the school of commerce it will offer specialized training in hospital administration in conjunction with the commerce course. It is hoped that the new course will meet the increasing need for adequate administration of B.C. hospitals.

Dry, Delicate and Aromatic Herbs

The selection and preservation of drugs are among the chief responsibilities of the pharmacist. For proper storage of pharmaceuticals in the sixteenth century, it was specified that moist drugs must be kept in silver, glass, or horn jugs and that eye unguents must be preserved in china, whereas marrow, lard and crude matter of like character could be kept in zinc boxes. Twentieth-century medicines, many of which are extremely delicate in composition, require scientific processing and painstaking care for proper preservation and storage. Development of suitable methods for packaging and preserving drugs is one of pharmacy's many contributions to modern science, through which world-wide distribution of important pharmaceutical and biological products has been made possible.

Great Increase In Power Output

Production of British Columbia Power Commission generating plants increased by 43 per cent during the calendar year.

Figures released by the commission today show production up to December 31 at well over 217,000,000 kilowatt hours.

For the corresponding period last year production was just under 152,000,000 kilowatt hours.

The commission, during 1950, required to purchase an additional 14.5 million kilowatt hours. With the Whatshan hydro development coming into operation in 1951, purchased power will be reduced to little more than a million kilowatt hours required in the Hope district.

Lunch And Bridge Party At Ganges

One of the most enjoyable parties of the festive season, which followed the New Year holidays, was that of Mrs. Hartley Wilson, a recent hostess at Harbour House, Ganges, where she entertained about 36 guests at a luncheon party, followed by bridge.

The sun room of the hotel was charmingly decorated with branches of yellow jasmine, artistically arranged bowls of the same flowers centred each lunch table and snowdrops in moss were extensively and effectively used throughout the rooms.

Following a delightful lunch, five tables of bridge were in play and the winner of the first prize, a double pack of cards, was Mrs. P. D. Crofton, the consolation going to Miss Sylvia Birch.

Among the invited guests were: Mrs. J. G. Ankenman, Mrs. E. L. Borradaile, Mrs. D. A. Boyes, Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mrs. D. K. Crofton, Mrs. Desmond Crofton, Mrs. P. D. Crofton, Mrs. C. W. Dawson, Mrs. W. E. Dipple, Mrs. A. Francis, Mrs. A. Gaunt, Mrs. P. Heath, Mrs. Warren Hastings, Mrs. Laurence Hanke, Mrs. G. A. E. Kellman, Mrs. O. Leigh-Spencer, Mrs. Earle Lockwood, Mrs. Gavin Mout, Mrs. Fred Morris, Mrs. L. F. Nicholson, Mrs. Beth Petersen, Mrs. R. F. S. Robertson, Mrs. Frank Scott, Mrs. A. J. Smith, Mrs. Cecil Springford, Mrs. John Sturdy, Mrs. Graham Shove, Mrs. Jack C. Smith, Mrs. Bishop Wilson, Mrs. W. K. Wickens, Mrs. Ira White, Mrs. C. A. Whitehead, Misses Frena Aitkens, Sylvia Birch, Sylvia Crofton, Marguerite Holford.

Completes 27 Years On Ganges Exchange

J. L. Barker, head of the Salt Spring Island plant department of the B.C. Telephone Company at Ganges, was host recently, at his home on Ganges Hill, when he entertained the telephone staff and other guests in honor of Miss Frena Aitkens. Miss Aitkens, after 27 years as local representative at the Ganges exchange, retired from the position at the end of December.

On her arrival in the reception room, still gay and attractive with Christmas decorations, Miss Aitkens was the recipient of a charming corsage of heather and violets from Mrs. Dorothy Fanning.

Guessing competitions were held during the evening for which prizes were awarded to Miss Effie Turner and A. J. Hepburn. Afterwards supper was served, the host being assisted by Mrs. Fellows, Mrs. C. Faure, Mrs. A. J. Hepburn and Miss Effie Turner.

On behalf of the members of the telephone staff A. J. Hepburn, of the plant department, presented the guest of honor with a handsome set of costume jewelry. He accompanied the gift with a short

Minister Replies To Critics In Radio Address

Answering the often-heard criticisms and complaints against the B.C. government with relation to the establishment and development of an iron and steel industry in the province, the Hon. R. C. MacDonald, minister of mines and municipal affairs, spoke Monday evening, Jan. 8, on "The Story of B.C. Iron and Steel."

Emphasizing that an embryo steel industry is already firmly established here, the Hon. Mr. MacDonald traced the history of this industrial development from 1875 to the present day.

Since that date, many independent surveys and government investigations have been conducted to determine the extent of British Columbia's geologic deposits and industrial potential.

Depression

Though, as the minister pointed out, periods of depression and war have delayed progress, much has been accomplished and more fruitful steps are foreseen in the near future—to make B.C. an important steel producing centre.

Mr. MacDonald foresees a per annum market for steel in B.C. of about 200,000 tons, of which, his figures indicate, 115,000 tons could be produced here in the province.

The minister pointed out that, in view of the critical international situation, Canada may find U.S. steel a strictly rationed commodity, and should therefore be at work to increase her own output of this vital material.

Says Mr. MacDonald: "...I am looking to the future... If by expanding this basis industry in British Columbia we can help to guarantee an adequacy for our needs in the west, and at the same time add immensely to our payrolls and our own economic stability, we are doing a deed for which another generation will be grateful."

speech, in which he conveyed the good wishes of all the members of the staff.

Among those present were Mrs. I. Devine, Mrs. C. Faure, Mrs. Fellows, Mrs. Dorothy Fanning, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hepburn, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. A. R. Price, Mrs. P. Watson, Miss Sylvia Jackson, Miss June Mitchell, Miss Josephine Overend and Miss Elsy Price.

In and Around Town

Out-of-town guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Gilbert, Third Street, during the festive season, were: Mrs. Y. Muir and children, Yvonne and Frances, of Colwood, and David Younger, Gordon Barr and John Lovett, all of Duncan.

Ann Shields, who has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wadhams, Beaufort Road, left by plane Monday for Kings Hall, near Montreal, where she is attending school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Taylor, Towner Park Road, are leaving shortly for England.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Elliott returned Thursday to Bowden, Alta., after being guests at the home of the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Head, Beaufort Road.

THE REVIEW'S MARKET LETTER

(By H. A. Humber, Ltd.)

The averages on the New York Stock Exchange moved well through the 240 mark and now stand at their highest point in 20 years. In many cases the values appear fictitious, but when one considers the fictitious dollar and the current inflationary trend present prices appear cheap. The unlimited demand for steel should make one consider the iron mines. Steep Rock Iron could sell very much higher.

NEW GENERAL MANAGER OF B.C. TELEPHONES

Winfield S. Pipes has been appointed general manager of the British Columbia Telephone Company effective January 1, according to an announcement by Gordon Farrell, president of the company.

Mr. Pipes, who has been acting general manager for several months, succeeds Cyril B. Diplock, who is still absent from duty because of illness. Mr. Diplock continues to be a vice-president of the company.

Experienced Man
The new general manager takes up his new appointment with a background of experience in the plant, traffic, commercial engineering and rate engineering phases of the company's operations.

He started his telephone career as a groundman at New Westminster, working with a heavy gang. At times he also worked as a cable splicer's helper, as an installer's aide and in the maintenance department.

In 1929 he moved to the traffic operating staff and then to traffic engineering. In 1931 he was appointed toll line engineer. In 1943 he was appointed development engineer, and in 1947 became rate and development engineer.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET MONDAY

First meeting of the board of trustees of School District No. 63 for the year 1951 will be held in the school board office, Sidney, on Monday evening next, Jan. 15, at 8 p.m.

At this meeting newly-elected trustees will take office and a chairman for the ensuing year will be elected.

Church Ladies Meet At Deep Cove

The monthly meeting of the St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity Afternoon W.A. was held at the home of Miss Meikle, Deep Cove, on Wednesday, January 3, with 17 members and one visitor present. A letter from Miss Ament, of the Mission to Lepers, was read, which referred to her possible visit here in March, to tell by means of a film the work among lepers in other lands.

Mrs. Hazlehurst, secretary for the Extra Cent a Day Fund, reported a sum of $5.45 on hand, "a good start for the new year," she said. Mrs. Atkin ("Living Message") secretary, stated that 21 members had subscribed to this magazine for 1951. Tea was served by the hostess, Miss Meikle.

Will members kindly note that the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Forneri, on Third Street, Sidney.

Victoria Firm Is Incorporated

H. G. Penman, popularly known in Victoria as "Harry the Ad Man," has just announced the formation of his advertising agency as a limited company. In addition to Mr. Penman, who is named president, Jack Henslowe and Owen Jupp are vice-president and treasurer respectively. Mr. Penman first commenced business as an advertising agent in Victoria in 1912. Later he moved to Seattle, where he remained for 20 years.

Returning to Victoria a number of years ago, he re-established his business in that city where he now acts as advertising agent for many of the leading business organizations. Mr. Penman resides at Gordon Head.

chase of equipment and buildings would only be $4,200.

Estimated Costs
Revenue a statement by Mr. Pickles for the new municipality based on previous share allotted to Ward Six by Saanich Municipality, would come to approximately $46,000. Estimated expenses, on the same basis and using the years 1948 and 1949 for comparison would be $36,000. Although this would appear to leave an annual surplus of approximately $10,000 there were additional expenditures for 1951 amounting to $7,125. However, due to the increase in the municipal aid and social security tax to Saanich Municipality, Central Saanich stood to gain another $7,000. This figure, Mr. Pickles stated, was based on the assumption that Saanich's share of the 3 per cent tax had been increased by $100,000 and that Central Saanich would receive their portion on a 7 per cent of the population basis.

To allay the fears of any rate-payers who wished to see the municipality start out without having to borrow money for capital expenditures, Mr. Pickles gave a short explanation of sound borrowing.

He pointed out that it would be necessary to purchase land, buildings and equipment, but that extravagance was out of the question. Borrowing would have to be restricted to an amount which could be taken care of by the existing revenue. Fear should only be felt, when financing over an extended period of years is liable to increase the municipal taxes, Mr. Pickles pointed out. Essential borrowing without an increase to the tax rate is a completely sound policy and will tend to keep taxes down, he explained.

"We have within the Central Saanich Municipality a total of taxable assessment of about $1,750,000," he said. "Under the Municipal Act the maximum amount which can be borrowed is one-fifth of this value, which is about $350,000. Under my alternative plan, requiring borrowing for capital expenditure, the sum to be borrowed would only amount to 12 per cent of the permitted borrowing."

Also well received by the audience were Central Saanich council candidates, Lorne Thomson and R. M. Lamont, both of whom gave short addresses stressing they would do their best for the new municipality should they be chosen by the electors for council seats.

Legion Calls for Continued Ferry Service

At the regular monthly meeting of the Saanich Peninsula Branch No. 37, Canadian Legion, held at Mills Road Hall on January 8, the following resolution was passed: "WHEREAS there is a danger of the Brentwood-Mill Bay ferry service being discontinued, and "WHEREAS this service is a good asset and service to the Saanich Peninsula and up-Island areas doing business with us. "THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that we, the members of the Saanich Peninsula Branch No. 37, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., respectfully request the Provincial Government to see to it that this means of transport be continued."

At this meeting nominations were received for officers and members of the executive committee for the ensuing year. Election will take place at the next regular meeting to be held at Saanich, February 12, at which time further nominations from the floor will be entertained.

FIRST BLOOD TO SIDNEY LEGION

The Legion boys' New Year's resolution to Manager Ron Cruickshanks was upheld last Monday night at Sidney as the lads presented him with a hard fought 21-19 win.

Although the issue was in doubt up to the final whistle, the Legion men showed signs of running away as they took a commanding 11-point lead in the first period. At the half, however, Sooke had narrowed the lead to 6 and in the final two periods Sidney's lack of strength on the bench, having stripped six players, began to tell as the tiring Legion were outscored 9-2 in the final quarter.

Albeit, the Legion were not to be denied as Ron Pearson fired home a game-clinching foul shot in the final minute.

The quality of ball was far from the best either club can exhibit, with both clubs apparently satisfied to substitute roughness for science, and for a time it was feared that "Willie Wilson" would be lost to Sidney with a dislocated shoulder. Fortunately it was a less serious bruised muscle.

Determined to maintain their winning streak the Legion journeyed to Sooke on Thursday for a return engagement and, it is hoped, a repeat victory.

SCOTS ARE UP IN ARMS AGAIN

Once again the Scots of the district are in full cry after The Review.

A story of the legend of the Stone of Scone appeared in these columns in the last issue. In an excellent description of the history which connects the stone with the days of Joseph, in the Old Testament, the writer described Dunstaffnage as being the capital of Argyle.

J. Duff, of McTavish Road, Sidney, has but recently shed the dust of the Highlands from his boots. He read with interest a dissertation on his native land and its heirlooms. His every sense was outraged when he read that Dunstaffnage was the capital of Argyle in the days of the militant clansmen. The unfortunate referring to that place as "Dunstaffnage" did not escape his eagle eye.

Post haste Mr. Duff informed The Review that Dunstaffnage is not a town, but a castle, and never was and never will be the capital of Argyle. Inverary is happy in that place of honor and is unlikely to relinquish it.

AGED SIDNEY MAN SUCCUMBS

The death occurred at his Sidney residence on Wednesday morning of L. Seebach, aged 94 years, a resident of this district for more than 20 years.

The deceased who had suffered from blindness for many years, suffered a broken hip some months ago and had never fully recovered.

He is survived by his son, Leonard Henry Seebach, and a daughter, Georgina May, with whom he lived.

Funeral services, in charge of Hayward's B.C. Funeral, will be at Holy Trinity church on Friday, Jan. 12, at 10 a.m., when Rev. Roy Melville will officiate. Interment will follow in Holy Trinity churchyard.

field, Mrs. T. Flint, Misses Audrey and Agnes Pearson.

It was agreed to honor J. J. White, Sidney pioneer, and H. J. McIntyre, of Vancouver, former publisher of The Review, with honorary directorships for life. These gentlemen will thus join other honorary directors who have given valuable services to the society in past years, including: Fred Bowcott, Geo. Cochran and E. R. Hall.

President's Report
A feature of the meeting was the annual report of retiring President Geo. Gray. He referred to the very successful Sidney Day in July, 1950, and paid tribute to the assistance rendered by members of the Rotary Club.

Mr. Gray pointed to considerable work done on the grounds during the past season, including the erection of new fences. Progress was made at the tennis court, which now awaits only its final top dressing.

TEMPERATURE AND RAINFALL UP IN DECEMBER

The weather for December was exceptionally mild and cloudy with precipitation and sunshine below normal, reports the meteorological office of the Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton.

The mean temperature, 43.5 degrees, was 4.3 degrees above the average and was exceeded on only two occasions during the past 37 years. December 11, with 56 degrees, was the warmest December day since 1912. The minimum temperature was 29.5 degrees and the lowest on the grass 23 degrees.

The precipitation, all of which was received in the form of rain, amounted to 5.48 inches, 0.19 inches below the average, and 2.57 inches below that of 1949. Nine days during the month were totally overcast and rain fell on 24 of the 31 days. The hours of sunshine totalled 43.8 for the month, 15.1 hours less than normal.

The precipitation for the year ending December 31, 1950, was 35.93 inches, 5.56 inches greater than the average and 1.20 inches more than that of 1949. The wettest year since records have been kept at this station was 1933 with a total precipitation of 41.55 inches, 12.43 of which fell in December, and the driest year was 1929, with only 18.66 inches of precipitation. The total hours of bright sunshine for 1950 was 1984.2, as compared to an average of 2076.7 for the past 37 years.
